TO SPOIL IT FOR BOOTLEGGERS

Federal prohibition officials in the United States are again giving consideration to a proposal made some months ago to render alcohol unfit for beverage purposes before it leaves the distillery.

Because of the diversion of large quantities of alcohol for beverages officials of the prohibition department are said to be convinced that the only way to deal properly with the situation is to treat the alcohol before it reaches the bootleg channels.

It is agreed by the officials that the bulk of the so-called liquor offered for sale now is made of alcohol with a little coloring matter and that not over two per cent of the stuff handled by the bootleggers is fit to drink.

CANADA'S AID TO RETURNED SOLDIERS

Canada's aid to the returned soldiers is universally known and the latest statistics issued show that the Soldiers' Settlement Board have placed 26,000 returned men on the land with monetary advances exceeding $34,000,000; 108,000 disabled soldiers were treated by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment and 50,000 of them fitted by vocational training for new positions in life.

73,000 are in receipt of pensions on a scale more liberal than any other country in the world; $164,000,000 was paid in gratuities; and an insurance scheme, has been developed by which returned men may protect their families from want, irrespective of their present condition of health.

TOWN WILL HOUSE FIREMEN

At the regular meeting of the town council on Monday night a proposition was advanced by a number of volunteer firemen and accepted by the town council, whereby the council will furnish four or five rooms for the free accommodation of single volunteer firemen. The rooms are contained in the top story of the town hall, and will be moderately furnished for the purpose. The hose reels and other equipment are kept in the basement of the same building. The names of about twelve young men were submitted. It is the intention of the council to arrange night accommodation for eight men, while arrangements will be made with four or five others who would be near at hand if required by day.

The minutes of last previous regular meeting were approved as read, and the following accounts were paid for payment, subject to approval by committee: Department Attorney-General, allowances to Tiberg and Nicholson families, $68.00, H. Crawford $5.00, R. Patterson & Co. $215.00, Blairmore Enterprise $498.65, W. Bird, for assessment $10.00, Canadian Electric Co. $24.60, Blairmore Hardware Co. $34.40. One or two other accounts were held over.

Another communication was received from the Tourists' Association, and it was decided to bring the matter of co-operation before a special meeting of the council.

The auditors' report was received, showing the town's affairs to be in a very satisfactory state.

On resolution, it was decided that additional equipment, such as hose, nozzles, etc., be purchased for the fire department.

CALLS CHRISTOPHER A THIEF, SUIT FOR $5000 INSTITUTED

Labor Member for Rocky Mountain Takes Action in Supreme Court for Slander.

As an aftermath of the election in the Rocky Mountain constituency in the recent provincial contest, an action for slander has been filed by P. M. Christopher, the sitting member, against Francis Lote, a miner, claiming damages in the sum of $5000. The slander is alleged to have been uttered by the defendant on July 14 last when, at a public meeting held at Hillcrest, he did falsely and maliciously speak and publish of the plaintiff to Joseph Stobbs and others.

Assembled the following words in their presence: "The third party, Mr. Christopher, was a thief and had used the funds of the widows and orphans of the Hillcrest disaster, and was a disruptionist."

The plaintiff claims that in consequence of the said slander he lost the respect and confidence of his fellow constituents and fellow associates, and has been held up to ridicule and contempt by his associates and constituents, and, in addition, lost a great many votes at the last provincial election in the Rocky Mountain constituency which he would otherwise have received but for the uttering of the said slander at the said public assembly. The damages claimed are special $2000, general $3000, totalling $5000. The claim has been filed at the court house in the city by H. Ostlund, K.C., acting for the plaintiff—Lethbridge Herald.

NOT IN THE WHOLESALE LINE

Anxious Mother—Yes, Mr. Roxley, the fact is that I have three daughters I want to see settled in life. Is this friend of your a marrying man?

Mr. Roxley—Not to any great extent. I'm afraid he wouldn't care about taking more than one of them.—Boston Transcript.

FROM A SUBSCRIBER

A letter accompanying a renewal of subscription to The Enterprise, received this week, contains the following complimentary and appreciative remarks: "We congratulate you on the enlargement and general improvement in The Enterprise, not forgetting, from your point of view, the increased number of go-ahead advertisements. May you live long and prosper. We have a decided liking for Blairmore and are always interested to read of the doings there and to note the West end improvements particularly. It is good to have such a firm help to build up the place, to their mutual advantage, and it becomes the townfolk, without any fog-in-the-manger idea, to rival their doings and beautify and enlarge the town generally. Delighted also to note that your municipal debenture coupon arrears have been paid up, and that sidewalks in concrete form are being extended, showing that your town is in a most healthy condition financially."

The picture to be presented at the Orpheum on Saturday night, "Reputation," starring Priscilla Dean, has just recently been shown in Calgary and Lethbridge, where it drew record crowds. Mr. Ubertino is to be congratulated on securing this excellent picture for his patrons, for according to city press reports, it is a masterpiece.

"The Last of the Mohicans," which was shown at the Orpheum last Saturday night was one of the most fascinating pictures ever shown here. It is adapted from the book of the same name, written by James Fenimore Cooper.

Do you know, there are merchants, jewelers and men, and even large manufacturing concerns and industrial concerns in Blairmore, who feel that The Enterprise is never giving them a fair deal? Well, they are not. We have a little business as they possibly think with us in favor of the traveler who will press his goods upon them. Yes, even the merchant who has occasionally to wear a buy-at-home suit, does not practice what he preaches. We were in a local store the other day and overheard the storekeeper criticize a resident of West Blairmore for patronizing the Hudson Bay and Tim Eaton Co., and a few minutes afterwards we picked up a Tim Eaton envelope on the sidewalk addressed to that very merchant. Until our business people wash up their minds to quit patronizing the mail-order houses themselves, it is a waste of time to preach for business-store patronage.

BORROWERS BEWARE

Here is a Country Newspaper Story
With a Moral.

A man who was too "economical" to subscribe for the weekly paper published in his district, sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor.

In his haste the boy ran over a $4 trail of feces and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His father ran to his assistance, and, failing to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into that cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $4 pair of pants.

The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the corn field and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket, the wife ran out, upset a four-gallon churn of rich cream into a basket of little chickens, drowning the entire hatch. In her haste she dropped a $25.00 set of false teeth.

The baby having been left alone, crawled through the spilt milk into the parlor, ruining a brand new $20 carpet.

During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up 11 setting hens and the calves got out and chewed the tails off four fine shirts on the clothes line. (Now is the time to subscribe.)

INDIVIDUALITY IN

ADVERTISING

One reason why a commonplace advertisement has little value is to be found in the fact that it appears in competition with a lot of others. The reader of the newspaper takes up the paper to give it the "once over." The news is the first thing looked into, for we all want to know what the other fellow is doing, even if he is a thousand miles or so away, says Advertising World.

After we have satisfied ourselves about the matters of world interest, we settle down to matters of local interest and read about our fellow-townsmen, how Jones shopped the week over the car with a half-donated steak, how Brown took a chance and ran off with Mrs. Smith, how Williams turned turtle into the ditch with his new flivver, and so on. My, how we do eat up that stuff!

Well after we have exhausted the possibilities of the local happenings we turn to the sport page and yell for our favorites, or to the financial page to see if the few shares of Pyramid Oil has primed yet, or to the classified section to see if anyone is offering a better home for rent, or offering a reward for the fur weaced up on the way home.

Preceded to that we have handed over the women's section to the wife who has washed up the dishes while we pretended to be too busy to know she was at it so that we would not have to wipe dishes!

Then we turn to the advertisement section because there isn't anything else to turn to in the darned old paper. It never does print very much worth while stuff. God, we can read it all at three minutes, anyway. It's a wonder these fellows down at the office don't get a little pep into their work and give us some real news, I'll say so.

We are tired of the day's work, tired of the house, tired of the world in general, we don't know what to do next so as previously stated we turn to the advertisement section, just because we don't know what else to do.

"The bread that's different, Mack," is a better bread. It's got to go so to beat the bun we had for dinner tonight, you think and pass on. Your baker brings bread you like, not that you'd refuse to try some other bread if you thought there was a reason for it. Of course not, but where's the reason?

"Let us install a heating system for you." Who wants a heating system this hot weather. It's a cooling system we want. Now if that plumber told you what a good thing it is to install heating systems in summer when the work can be done at leisure and under the best conditions. But you don't. You're finally nailed by Jim Penn, who happens to meet you, in the fall. Well, you fall for the personal stuff. Of course, go round and fix her up. Public has his chance, but he didn't get far.

"Any man who is earnest in saving money should buy his clothes at 'Pascos'." Lord, what a man who has a right to feel and cloth isn't in earnest in trying to save money. If you don't believe it listen to the little daily discussion between the male and female of the household as they finance the daily bill of fare, which, you can take it from me, is mostly all bill and little fare.

Just then the wife exclaimed, "Oh, George, there's the cutest littlehead down at Tompkins and it only costs $32, marked down from $35, and I need a new hat so much, the last one I got is a fright, and Mrs. Simpkins got a new one yesterday."

Under such circumstances, my mind was riveted on saving so I went after Mr. Pasco's advertisement to learn how to do it, but would you believe it, there wasn't a word more about it, just a few lines telling how he had the largest stock and most up to date line, and some other things I find every merchant has.

Well, under such circumstances it's a pleasure, a genuine circus, "three rings and a parade thrown in, not to mention the side show and the tight rope performance on the grounds, to meet up with something different.

You can take it from me, if I ever advertise anything I'll tell it all. I'll tell what it is, why it is, where it is, when it is, and I'll make it quite plain about the price, too. And to get away from the commonplace remarks, I'll take a correspondence course with Dr. Coyle in word making and just tell a reasonable amount about my store and myself, sticking to the truth in advertising and all that.

I'll just be human.

There are always showers for the bride, but the groom catches a shower.

Sometimes a woman doesn't meet her ideal man until she is too old for him to recognize her.

Card of Thanks

The McLean Lumber Company take this opportunity of extending their thanks to the citizens of Blairmore and other towns of The Pass, who so willingly rendered valuable assistance in fighting the fire which occurred in their lumber yard on Saturday, October the 8th, 1921.

We would like nothing better than the privilege of applying the boots to the swaggering bully who blasphemes and insults innocent men who happen to go on a leased farm to shoot partridges and where no signs are posted. Such miserable individuals should know that a mere request to vacate the premises and not the use of a whip and a foul tongue are necessary to have gentlemen desist from shooting on any man's farm.

A poultry company once offered a prize for the best guess as to the number of feathers on a hen. Thousands of guesses were received, some very far from the mark. One person guessed that a hen's feathers amounted to over six millions. The correct number was found to be eight thousand one hundred and twenty.

They were telling me of the amusing speech made on Friday by Mr. Galloway Fraser when he resigned from the editorship of Tit-Bits, after having been in charge of that green covered production for thirty-one years. "Come and edit Tit-Bits," said Sir George Newnes, the founder of popular journalism. "No, I am thinking of becoming a clergyman," replied Fraser. "Don't do that," said Newnes; "you'll only get married and have a large family." So he became editor of Tit-Bits instead. Mr. Fraser told the colleagues who made him a presentation that one night Sir George's coachman was driving him home when Newnes discovered he was driving him round and round the same square. Then he found the man was drunk; so he put the coachman inside, and drove the brougham home himself. — Mr. London in The Daily Graphic.

A Cockney who got a job out in the country, had to drive a horse to the village for the farmer who employed him and was told that he must be careful to keep the rein from the horse's tail.

When he returned the farmer asked him if he had any trouble. "Oh, no!" he answered, "we only had one shower, and while it lasted I managed to hold an umbrella over the horse's tail."

In a recent sitting of the Court of Kings Bench in Regina, Mr. Justice Bigelow decided an important case for $80,000 libel, giving judgment in favor of defendants with costs. One John McCarthy, who runs a hotel in that city, brought suit against the Leader Publishing Co for $25,000; the Corporation of the City of Regina for $25,000; the members of the council for $10,000; the chief of police $10,000, and the city license inspector for $10,000 for asserting that he kept a disreputable hotel. The case occupied two days.

The appeal case of the Gold Seal Liquor Co. versus the Dominion Express Co. was dismissed by the Supreme Court of Canada. The Gold Seal Co. sued the Dominion Express Co. for refusing to handle their shipments. It is said that the case will be appealed to the judicial committee of the Privy Council.

After having written up a long obituary column and saying all the good things it was possible to say regarding Joe McIlhanna, whose disappearance for over two weeks from Frank caused no little anxiety among his relatives and friends, we were surprised on Monday morning to learn that he had returned from western points, o. k. and looking none the worse for our worries. Expressions of regret at Joe's untimely end, elaborate preparations for memorial services, provisions for a burial plot and arrangements for the distribution of his intestate belongings were so far advanced that to fill a book, and now, thank God, Joe comes back to cause another disappointment.

"Could the department of attorney general feel satisfied that police were doing their duty in the enforcement of the liquor act, when they enter the home of a foreigner who doesn't say a word of English, throws a piece of paper purported to be a warrant on a table of some other convenient object, without reading it, then ransacks that home through and through in the absence of the proprietor of the house, and when only the woman is at home, or when they go so far as to enter a private warehouse without serving a warrant on anybody, by removing or breaking the lock? Practices such as related above are not conducive to public sympathy."

One of the most successful and pleasant socials ever held in Bellevue took place in the I. O. O. F. hall on the night of Tuesday, October 18th, in connection with the Bellevue Life Rescue and First Aid Association. After the business meeting, during which sixteen new members were enrolled, the hall was thrown open for the members, their wives and friends. About two hundred and fifty were in attendance. The social programme commenced with a fine selection by the Bellevue band "The Pride of England," rendered in a splendid manner. Songs were given by Miss E. Radford, Mrs. Blake, Miss G. Knowles, Mr. E. Coestick, Mr. J. Wyatt, Mr. W. Goodwin, Mr. R. McDicken and Miss Olive Goodwin. The Goodwin brothers rendered two musical quartettes. Mrs. H. Barlas and Miss M. Williams acted as piano accompanists. Dancing was indulged in until a late hour, music being furnished by Professor Royle's orchestra; and the affair broke up at about 2 a. m., everybody voting it a splendid time and hoping it would soon be repeated.

CONCLAVE OF C. S. E. T. IN CROWS' NEST TOWNS HELD AT BLAIRMORE

A most successful convale of the C.S.E.T. boys of the Crows' Nest Pass was held at the Opera House, Blairmore, on Tuesday, Oct. 18. While this was the first gathering of this nature to be held by the boys of The Pass, it is doubtful if any more successful event has been held by any other district in the province. Nine boys belonging to the various Tuxis Squares and Trail Ranger camps in the towns of Hillcrest, Coleman and Blairmore participated and one hundred and fifty parents and friends of the boys were present as spectators.

The program included a bean supper, competitions for the most artistically decorated table, the best device portraying the name and ideals of the group, the best yell, the best song, the best three minute speech on the C.S.E.T. program of the group, and a series of challenge games. A number of special stunts put on by some of the groups on the stage completed a program full of fun and interest to all present.

Charlie Howe, Pretor of the Life-buoy Tuxis Square of Blairmore, was the Grand-Pretor of the convale and presided most ably throughout the evening. The committee in charge included Rev. R. E. Newman, Hillcrest; Rev. D. K. Allan, Coleman; Rev. W. T. Young, and one or two boys from each of the organized groups of the district. Mr. Wallace Forgie, secretary of the Boys' Work Board of Alberta, was present and acted as director of the tournament of relay and challenge games.

The first competitions for the most artistically decorated table and the best device portraying the name and ideals of the group were judged by Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Lillie and Mrs. Putnam, of Blairmore, who rendered their decisions in these two competitions as follows—

Name of Group	Decorations	Device
"Non Skid Trail Ranger camp, Blairmore	25	23
"Beacons" Tuxis-Square Coleman	24	20
"Go Ahead" Trail Ranger, Hillcrest	22	25
"Eureka" Tuxis Square Hillcrest	22	20
"Life Buoy" Tuxis Square, Blairmore	20	21

The competitions for the best song and yell judged by Rev. Allan, Coleman, and Mr. J. T. Ross, of Blairmore, and the competition for the best three minute speech on the C.S.E.T. program and ideals of the group, judged by Dr. Lillie, Blairmore, and Mr. V. C. Dunning, Coleman, gave the following result:

Name of Group	Songs	Yells	Speeches
"Life Buoy" Tuxis Square, Blairmore	25	22	25
"Beacons" Tuxis Square, Coleman	23	22	23
"Eureka" Tuxis Square, Hillcrest	23	24	21
"Non Skid Trail Ranger Camp, Blairmore	22	22	22
"Go Ahead" Trail Ranger Camp, Hillcrest	20	25	21

The tournament of relay and challenge games resulted in the Trail Ranger camp of Coleman, making the total possible record of 60 points. It was regretted that this group were unable to compete in the other features of the convale as their fine showing in the tournament would have given them a good chance to stand first in all the competitions. The other results of the tournament are: "Non-Skid, Alpha," 50 points; "Go Ahead," 50 points; "Life Buoy," Panthers, 50 points; "Go Ahead, Travellers," 40 points; "Beacons" 40 points; "Non Skid, Beta" 35 points; "Life Buoy, Greyhounds," 35 points; "Non Skid, Index," 35 points; "Eureka," 10 points.

The final result of the convale competitions gave "Life Buoy, Panthers" a total of 166 points; "Non Skid, Alpha," 154 points; "Go Ahead," 163

"Take a bull frog and chase him five miles; go back and gather up all the hops; add the following: 20 gallons of tan bark, 2 quarts shellac, 2 pounds ground cayenne pepper, 5 bars home-made soap; boil the mixture for twelve hours; strain through an I.W. At a meeting of the Blairmore Hockey Club held last Monday eve, W. H. Chappell, and M. G. Rhynas were appointed delegates to the Crow Hockey League meeting, being held in Lethbridge this coming Saturday. Several different items were discussed at the meeting, to give the delegates a few pointers of what may be expected of them at the coming meeting. The matter of insurance for the team was also discussed.

A comprehensive review of the work of the Junior Red Cross in the Province of Alberta, is contained in the report recently issued by the superintendent of this department at the Provincial Headquarters in Calgary.

It shows that there are approximately 18,000 Junior Red Cross members in Alberta, all of them recruited from the schools in the Province. Many of the schools have won the Lieut. Governor's banner for 100 per cent. enrolment and many others have been awarded the certificate for 75 per cent membership. The new units of the Junior organization are now all being instructed in their duties. Their work is all for the sick and crippled children of the province, whose parents cannot afford to give them the best medical treatment necessary for their cure. All that the Juniors make by their efforts goes to this cause. None of it is used for administration expenses.

Canada Needs Population

Although the results of the census of Canada taken in June last have not yet been officially announced, sufficient information is available to establish the fact that the figures of population are going to prove highly disappointing to those people who, basing their calculations on the yearly return of immigrants entering the Dominion, had expectations of seeing a very substantial increase in the number of people in Canada.

Each recurring decennial census in Canada brings the same disappointment. Between one census and the next, hundreds of thousands, yes, millions of immigrants are reported as having entered the Dominion. The vital statistics likewise report the fact that the number of births exceeds deaths by many more hundreds of thousands. Yet when the census is taken the people which are supposed to be here, and presumably ought to be here, are not in evidence. They came here but they have disappeared. The question which demands an answer is: Where have they gone, and why?

The Canadian Council of Agriculture, which has been giving some study to this problem, in a statement recently made public, points out that, according to the returns of the Department of Immigration, no less than 1,812,336 immigrants came to this country between April 1, 1911, and March 31, 1921, which corresponds with the census period; also that during this same period births in Canada exceeded deaths by 1,140,000. In other words, that from these two sources there should be an increase in Canada's population of 2,952,336, which would bring the 1921 census of population of 7,206,643 up to 10,158,979 in 1921. As a matter of fact it is now confidently predicted that the census of 1921 will not show nine million people, and possibly not many more than 8,500,000.

On all sides the statement is heard that Canada needs a larger population; that the future of its railways, the ability to carry and ultimately pay off the huge national debt, depends upon the development of its natural resources, and that the country can only be brought about by a large influx of people to do the necessary work. The need for a strong, aggressive immigration policy is, therefore, urged. True, there are a few voices raised in opposition to such a policy, but they are in a minority.

The writer of this column agrees that such an immigration policy is necessary, and that Canada's efforts to secure settlers of the right type should not be spasmodic, but permanent, well organized and continuous. But in the light of past immigration returns, reports of vital statistics, and census takings, it is apparent that something more than getting people to come to Canada is needed. The adoption of policies that will keep them here seems to be required above everything else.

If Canada cannot retain the native-born sons and daughters it is idle to expect new people to come and stay here. Clearly there is something wrong somewhere. If our native-born had remained at home, and if we had retained the large percentage of incoming immigrants during the past quarter of a century, Canada's population would be double what it is, and, like compound interest, the future increase would be rapid.

Party politics can find no place for discussion in this column. There are plenty of forums for the discussion of such politics, but this is not one of them. But policies in the broad meaning of the term—that is, the science and business of government as distinct from party organization, shillbills and particular policies—have a proper place here. In fact, no good citizen or true patriot can properly neglect them.

It is our conviction, that while Canada does need the most wide-awake, progressive and aggressive immigration policy that can possibly be devised, and that full advantage should now be taken of the opportunity which presents itself throughout the world owing to the desire of millions of people to emigrate from the old world countries, the first step in the framing of Canada's immigration policy should be a determination of the causes of the drift of people away from Canada, native-born and immigrants.

There is a cause for it, or a combination of causes. The cause should be ascertainable, and once ascertained it ought to be possible to apply a remedy and remove the cause. Every manufacturer, financier, railway operator, merchant, professional man, artisan and farmer is interested, and vitally interested in this problem. The application of the needed remedy might upset many preconceived ideas and destroy long accepted and time honored policies. But what of it, if those ideas and policies are the cause of Canada's loss?

Suppose some cherished policy of the manufacturers on the one hand, or the farmers on the other, had to go by the board, would they not be the gainers by adding millions to the population? Imagine what it would mean to Canada's manufacturers today if all the immigrants had native-born between 1911 and 1921 were in Canada now. What a domestic market in terms to sell their goods. And what a relief in taxation, and in improved facilities for the farmer, would the result be, if the Dominion's population was between ten and fifteen millions instead of less than nine millions?

The need of population is Canada's greatest need. It is the outstanding national issue. In it is bound up all other issues and through its solution practically all other problems will be solved.

The hemp crop of Manitoba for 1921, the first year that it has been cultivated extensively, will be large, according to a Winnipeg correspondent, whose direction farmers in the Province seed and sow the hemp. Five hundred tons will be realized, it is estimated, and at Portage la Prairie, 200 acres were under cultivation. More than 400 acres have been sown to hemp in the Swan River district.

Hiccup Epidemic Prevalent

Don't get the habit of hiccup—stop the slightest attack at the beginning. Nothing brings such magical relief as slowly slipping a few drops of Nervine in sweetened water. For stomachic, bloating, cramps, diarrhoea, nothing will prove more useful in every-day home than a 35 cent bottle of Nervine.

A Scotch cabman, according to the London Sunday Express, was driving a Scotchman, a highlander, and a burgher. He stopped suddenly, and with a wave of his whip, announced, "That is John Knox's house." "Who is John Knox?" asked the American. "The cabman was dumbfounded, but a pause he blurted out: 'But do you never read your Bible, mon?'"

PAINFUL DIARRHOEA CRAMPS IN STOMACH

Mr. Fred Funston, Craik, Sask., writes: "A year ago last harvest I was taken with a sudden attack of diarrhoea which completely laid me out, and in a few hours I had to quit work. The cramps in my stomach were dreadful, the heat of my head would stand out on my face at times I was in such great distress. At last I got a chance to send for a couple of bottles of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I used it according to the directions and soon obtained a great change for the better, for which I was very thankful. I don't know what the cause of my sickness was except the extremely hot weather and the active work of digging the wheat."

Several of my neighbors were taken the same as myself and had the doctor stand there but they didn't get any great relief until I advised them to use Dr. Fowler's when they soon experienced a great change. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past 76 years and its medicinal qualities are being offered to the public.

How To Serve Oysters

BY LORETTA C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

What is so delicious as the reasonable oyster? The average housewife knows how to serve the oyster raw, fried, or in stew, but have you ever thought what an addition a few oysters are the food lacking in flavor? Take, for instance, macaroni. Just when the family is beginning to lose proper appreciation of so nourishing a food as macaroni, try serving this dish: Strain a dozen oysters from their shells. Place the oysters in a strainer and rinse with half a cup of cold water. The use of much water will tend to wash away the delicate flavor for which the oyster is highly prized. Put the liquor into a corked pot and add enough water to mix about a quart and a half of liquid in all.

When boiling, gently lower into it about a measuring cup of macaroni. Boil for ten minutes, taking care not to add the macaroni fast enough to stop boiling. Add two level teaspoons of salt. Cook until the macaroni is tender—about twenty minutes—adding extra water if there seems danger of burning.

Drain the macaroni and measure the liquid. There should not be much of this. If there is more than half a measuring cup evaporate somewhat by boiling. Then add rich milk to make a cup and a half in all. Rub together two level tablespoons of butter with one level tablespoon of flour. Add half a teaspoon of salt and a few grains of cayenne or a more generous quantity of paprika or black pepper. Cook this in the milk mixture, stirring constantly until it boils.

Butter a baking dish, several small ramekins or some large dish shells. Spread the milk sauce in a few oysters, either whole or chopped, and then a little of the thickened milk. Repeat the layers until the dish is filled and all the material is used. Cover with buttered crumbs and place in a moderate oven until the crumbs are a delicate brown.

Folks in inland towns may indulge in oysters even when they are not in season, because they always have oysters to oysters which the manufacturer tells us are canned the day they come from the ocean with the tang of the sea upon them. A particularly good dish to make of canned oysters is "oysters au gratin."

Cut the oysters in two, cut into slices three-fourths of an inch in thickness, the crust removed and then toasted until a delicate brown. The toast is buttered and then spread with an oyster sauce. The oysters are reheated in a rich white sauce made with cream, if possible. The creamed oysters are arranged on the prepared toast.

Just before serving, the yolk of a hard-boiled egg is forced through a strainer and descends upon the toasted oysters in the form of "golden rain." Strips of canned pineapple add to the attractiveness of the dish.

Oysters a la King are among the chattering-dainties every hostess likes to serve. A thick white sauce is prepared; using part milk and part mushrooms. A little chopped green pepper and a little pineapple is added in a small amount of butter. This is added to the white sauce and the oysters are then cooked in the mixture for a few minutes until the beads just curl.

Some Folks Before It—There are many who have been afflicted with corns and have even been away with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. All similarly troubled should lose no time in applying this oil, which comes in a tube. There is nothing like it to be had. It is cheap, but its power is in no way expressed by its low price.

Wireless Stations Demonstrate Power

WHAT TO DO FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

Good Advice From One Who Had Suffered Much.

Nine-tenths of all forms of indigestion or so-called stomach trouble are not due to the condition of the stomach at all, but are caused by other influences. The cause of the trouble is a condition of indigestion in the blood. Good blood and plenty of it is required by the stomach to take care of the food. If the blood is thin the stomach functions sluggish, food lies undigested, gas forms and induces pains in various parts of the body. Instead of getting nourishment from the blood the system gets poison.

Relief from this condition can be obtained by the tonic treatment which Dr. D. Shaw, M.D., Stewart, P.E.I., tried and now warmly recommends to others. This tonic pills for stomach trouble from indigestion for over four years, and have tried many of the well-known remedies, but never obtained relief. The trouble was aggravated by constipation and indigestion, the stomach failing to do its work, and laxatives only gave relief to the bowels and left the stomach in worse condition. The result was my blood was growing more and more anemic, I did not sleep well, and was growing dependent. I was in this wretched condition when a friend advised me to try Pink Pills for Pale People.

I took three boxes and by the time I had finished the third box I was feeling much better. I was able to do my work, and my blood was growing more and more anemic, I did not sleep well, and was growing dependent. I was in this wretched condition when a friend advised me to try Pink Pills for Pale People.

British Premier Pleads For Understanding And Peace Among Nations

London.—In outlining the Government's proposal to alleviate unemployment, Mr. Lloyd George made the following declaration in the House of Commons:

"Peace and a good understanding among nations is vital. Let us get out of the atmosphere where if you talk about a German without a crown on your brow you are not a patriot. Trade cannot start in such an atmosphere. If you interfere to make peace, your motives are misunderstood; but if Great Britain will not do it, who will? We want to see the nations begin again the task of peace."

Mr. Lloyd George, referring to trade with Russia, said there had been no restrictions on the British side to trading, but that the total trade for the first eight months of the present year had been only $2,150,000, which showed there was not an unlimited field in Russia for British or any other enterprise.

In the debate following the Prime Minister's speech, Mr. Asquith said in his judgment the question of unemployment raised the necessity for re-consideration of the entire problem of international indebtedness, including the indebtedness of the Allies to one another, and the indebtedness of their late enemies to the Allies.

Pacific Naval Base Not Named

Premier Hughes Says It Will Not Be Singapore.

Melbourne.—Premier Hughes, speaking in the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth, said the question of a British naval base in the Pacific was discussed at the recent conference of the Empire and that a decision regarding it was reached. He added, however, that the base would not be at Singapore.

Premier Hughes' reference to Singapore may be taken in connection with an article in the London Daily Sketch reviewing the rumor that Great Britain was planning a new naval base in the Pacific and which stated it was intended to spend $22,000,000 in converting Singapore into a first-class station. The sketch added that if an agreement were reached at the Washington armistice conference, the arrangement which included the creation of an alternative base of less importance in Australia, could be counter-manned.

A Red Cross Appeal For Peace

Nations Asked to Join in Campaign Against Spirit of War.

In virtue of a higher law and duty, and of principles above the level of human passions, the helping hand of the Red Cross was stretched forth to all victims throughout the ordeal of the Great War.

Today, the Red Cross owes it to itself and to all its many workers to proclaim as an ideal and a practical intention, a struggle against the horror of war, an attempt by worldwide help and unselfishness definitely to abolish war.

The mere continuation of Red Cross activity in time of peace will no longer suffice. It is the wish of the Red Cross to work in the interest of peace.

Therefore, the Red Cross calls upon all whole-hearted citizens, irrespective of nationality, religious belief, profession, or social rank, to join, as far as lies in their power, in a systematic campaign against that spirit of war, which is a constant menace to the world's peace.

During five years, millions of men were killed or mutilated. Today, thousands of ex-soldiers or prisoners at last set free bear indelible marks of bodily and mental suffering. All of them believed that the generations to come would reap the fruits of the great order in a new international life, which would be more brotherly, franker and more free.

Instead, disorder and uncertainty, distrust and greed, hatred and the threat of fresh quarrels are reappearing throughout the world. The spirit of war, unconquered, reigns supreme. Its sinister influence is evident. It inspires lines of policy and press campaigns, which lead public opinion astray and embitter the economic competition among nations.

During the terrible years of the recent war, superhuman efforts were required of the different nations in order to inspire such sacrifices, a supreme reward was promised—namely, the annihilation of this same spirit of war, which is a peril as old as the world and a constant menace to mankind.

These generations yet unborn would have been delivered from the scourge at the price of the suffering which the war entailed. This hope sustained nations and armies. Have they hoped in vain?

Have millions of human lives and the wealth of nations been sacrificed in vain? Faced with these questions, the Red Cross recognized a duty.

At the suggestion of Senator Clusole, Chairman of the Italian Red Cross, the tenth International Red Cross Conference, which met at Geneva on April 1st, 1921, voted the following resolution:

"The International Committee of the Red Cross and the League of Red Cross Societies shall address an appeal to all nations, exhorting them to combat the spirit of war, which dominates the world."

These two organizations call therefore on nations and individuals to fight with all means in their power this malevolent spirit. May statesmen, writers, school and university, capital and labor remember that it is their duty, in the interest of mankind, to help peace to conquer the earth. Above all, children should be brought up in this fundamental belief.

It is essential that the human mind should once more be open to the broad lines of an internationalism, which, while allowing the citizen to love his town and the patriot his country, teaches all men to re-aspect the existence and the rights of their fellows, by bringing into the daily life the individual light of a justice, which is to be in all the world for all the time.

This true internationalism cannot be attained without the active and intimate cooperation of governments, parliaments, voluntary organizations, the press, the clergy, and above all, National Red Cross Societies. To the union of these forces must be added a supreme factor, the power of individual conviction. Every man, as far as lies in his power, must contribute to make peace permanent in the world.

The individual must no longer see the world in the light of his own selfishness, anger, fear and human passion, but in a spirit of concord and mutual aid.

Thus only can a better future be prepared. Faithful to the ideal which inspired its founders, and which it has ever served, the Red Cross hereby declares before the whole world, that its work does not end with war. The Red Cross appeals to the heart of all mankind, that each individual may find in himself the needful strength and determination to make and keep universal peace.
